Ulverscroft Manor is a 300-year-old country house that combines the old-world charm of its historic past with the modern facilities of the 21st century.

Ulverscroft Manor conference rooms offer the ideal venue for small meetings and conferences in a prestigious location deep in the heart of Leicestershire's beautiful Charnwood Forest. With ample parking within yards of the spectacular property and woodland walks to help unwind during breaks, Ulverscroft Manor is the perfect getaway, providing an unpressurised environment for serious business.

For an inspirational but slightly unconventional meeting in the heart of the woods Ulverscroft Manor offers the Yurt Creative Space. The yurt has no electricity but is heated by a log burning stove. This tranquil setting is the ultimate rendezvous for creative thinking, team building and learning.

Ulverscroft Activity Centre is a modern, accessible, and functional space. Situated at the heart of our Yew Trail in an area of mixed woodland, the centre offers an ideal meeting space best suited to larger groups.

Ulverscroft Activity Centre provides the perfect venue for larger meetings or conferences. The fully accessible, bright, airy, and modern space allows for a range of flexible layout options. Comfortably accommodating up to 100 people dependent upon arrangement style, the unique setting and woodland charm will make a lasting impression on your delegates or guests.

The adjoining kitchenette provides cutlery and crockery for your refreshment requirements. Accessible ramp access, baby changing facilities, onsite parking, projector screen and a welcome host, will ensure that your visit to the Foundation runs smoothly from start to finish.
